CROWDS STORM COURT AT SHEPHERD TRIAL

CROWE CALLS CASE GRAVEST IN ILLINOIS

Says Introduction of New Species of Murder Makes Trial Most Important

RESENTS PLOT CHARGES

Defense Counsel Declares It Is Too Late to Save Defendant's Good Name

By Associated Press
Chicago.—The greatest crowd of the six weeks of the trial fought for admission to the courtroom Friday to hear Robert E. Crowe, state's attorney make the closing jury plea in the Shepherd trial.

Prosecutor Crowe faced the jury at 10:25 and began talking in an easy conversational tone. He led with a denunciation of William Scott Stewart and W. W. O'Brien, the defense attorneys, for their spirit of levity throughout the trial. He defended himself, Judge Harry Olson and Alexander F. Reichmann from the defense allegation that the accusation against Shepherd and his trial were steps in a vicious conspiracy against Shepherd to prevent him inheriting the $1,000,000 estate willed to him by the boy, he is charged with using typhoid germs to slay.

"I am here because it is my sacred duty to be here," Crowe shouted. "They had introduced a new kind of murder here and because of that it is the most important murder trial in the history of Illinois. Yet Stewart and O'Brien would have you believe I am so vile, venial and corrupt that I would be forced to become a party to a conspiracy to strangle an innocent man."

Prosecutor Crowe's face reddened and his eyes narrowed to slits as he turned and glared at Shepherd when he arraigned the defendant as "perpetrator of a new species of murder."

Stewart and O'Brien were on their feet with a half dozen objections as Prosecutor Crowe talked and O'Brien made numerous sarcastic comments from his seat.

SCORES LEVITY
"They wanted to laugh this case out of court," Crowe faced between clenched teeth. "They wanted to call it a comedy, make a burlesque of it."

Crowe said the reason he put Judge Olson on the witness stand was to give Stewart and O'Brien an opportunity to make good their jury choosing statement that "we will show this case is a frameup, Harry Olson has a financial interest in it."

"What do you think of tactics of that sort?" demanded Crowe as he accused Stewart and O'Brien. "What do you think of the method in which this case has been defended? Shakespeare has said that 'the apparel off proclaims the man.' You can often tell whether or not the defendant is guilty by the kind of defense he presents to a jury."

The prosecutor criticised Shepherd for living 16 years in a millionaire's home in a fashionable suburb, practicing law and not having a host of influential friends to rush to his rescue and for waiting until the last moment to deny the charges against him.

The defense objected that by insinuating that Shepherd should have called character witnesses the prosecutor was committing a reversible error.

Mr. Crowe dilated upon his charge that Shepherd was a shiftless "panhandler" who had been content to live 16 years in plenty provided by another.

"My only purpose in cross-examining this man was to prove he was a liar," Prosecutor Crowe told the jury as he pointed a finger at Shepherd.

ACQUIT OR GALLOW
Either acquittal or death on the gallows must be chosen by the jury as the fate of William Darline Shepherd in the opinion of attorneys for both sides.

Final arguments, they agree, climaxed from consideration any sentence of 15 years or straight life imprisonment.

A plea for "an acquittal in record time" was the theme of the lengthy oratory of William Scott Stewart, defense counsel chief, and W. W. O'Brien, his partner. A demand for the death penalty Prosecutor Robert E. Crowe said would be made by him in concluding the arguments.

"All you can give to Shepherd is his liberty you cannot give him back his good name," was Stewart's closing request. "We ask you not for sympathy but for a fair trial. We ask you to do what is right and acquit him."

Seven senators and nine members of the assembly attending the session Friday. The upper house laid three vetoes on the table, where they probably will rest at the close of the session while the assembly sustained three other vetoes.

RANCH MAN HAS RACE FOR LIFE WITH AVALANCHE

Saves Wife and Family Before Home Is Wiped Out by Huge Landslide

By Associated Press
Jackson, Wyo. — Racing ahead of an avalanche, with his life and the safety of his family and home at stake, and winning by a matter of minutes, was the experience of Gil Huff, Wyoming rancher, whose story of seeing the north side of Sheep Mountain crumble and fall across the Gros Ventre river valley near here Tuesday was related Friday.

Huff said he was riding on horseback at the foot of the mountain when it began to move, carrying on its back a section of the dense Teton national forest.

The avalanche with a roar, Huff said, bore down toward him in the form of a moving wall of boulders, trees and earth a hundred feet high. His frenzied horse struck by flying splinters and stones ran to higher ground at one side, and the big landslide missed him by only a few feet.

Huff raced to his home nearby. He rushed his wife and daughter to a point of safety and then returned to save as many of his belongings as possible. Huff said many of his cattle were killed, two ranches above his were wiped out and the ranger station nearby will be submerged by the rising water.

His home, which was in the bed of the suddenly formed reservoir, now is under many feet of water.

GOPHERS OFFER COACH JOB TO EAST MENTOR

Morgantown, W. Va. — Dr. Clarence W. Swears, for the last four years football coach at the University of West Virginia, has under consideration an offer to become coach of the University of Minnesota gridiron squad next fall. It became known Friday on his return from Cedar Point, O., where he conferred with President Coffmann of Minnesota on the subject. Previous conferences had been held by the mountaineer coach with members of the Athletic committee at Minneapolis. It was learned.

The defense objected that by insinuating that Shepherd should have called character witnesses the prosecutor was committing a reversible error.

Mr. Crowe dilated upon his charge that Shepherd was a shiftless "panhandler" who had been content to live 16 years in plenty provided by another.

Gas Bill, Home Rule, Income Tax Main Fruit Of Legislature

By Associated Press
Madison.—Many proposals fell by the wayside in the fifty-seventh session of the Wisconsin legislature, but more than 450 were enacted into law. Most of the legislation proposed by Governor Blaine and otherwise supported by administration was included among the successful measures.

The total number of bills introduced in the two houses was 1,140, of which 575 were in the senate and 565 in the assembly. More than 50 of the approximately 325 bills passed were vetoed, a considerable number meeting with executive disapproval under the home rule amendment.

Two score or more bills are awaiting the governor's signature, with several more vetoes expected. Governor Blaine has six days from the time he receives the remaining bills in which to veto any of them. Since the adjournment will follow the governor's disposal of the last measures.

Among legislation suggested by Governor Blaine in his message, at the opening of the session, the following was enacted: Highway, including two-cent gasoline tax and allotment of funds; income tax, home rule enabling act, and conservation. The child labor amendment to the federal constitution was ratified, and the proposed initiative and referendum amendment to the state constitution was approved, with a change to safeguard parochial and private schools, which will require the sanction of the next session.

The subjects of reduction of boards and commissions, reforestation and taxation were given to interim committees to investigate and recommend legislation to the next legislature. Governor Blaine's proposal for a law authorizing indeterminate sentences was enacted.

New legislation or changes in existing statutes of importance are shown in the following review of the Wisconsin legislature's accomplishments:

APPROPRIATIONS
Appropriations were provided for the state's governmental departments and activities, including the university and normal schools. The university received $1,500,000 additional for new buildings, and funds were provided for similar work at the normals. The purposes for which funds could be appropriated by the emergency board were restricted to certain emergencies, including calamities.

Among the more important appropriations were the approximate amounts: University of Wisconsin, $7,000,000 for two years. State normal schools, $4,000,000 for two years. Charitable and penal institutions, $6,000,000 annually.

National guard, $225,000 annually. Bovine tuberculosis eradication, $750,000 annually. Attorney general's department, $58,000 annually.

FRENCH FINANCE PLAN CALLS FOR NEW BOND ISSUE
Caillaux Proposes Increase of Six Billion Francs to Mature Paper

By Associated Press
Paris.—Finance Minister Caillaux's plans for payment of maturing bonds provide for an increase of 6,000,000,000 francs in both the circulation and the Bank of France's advances to the state and for the issuance of gold parity bonds exchangeable for the national defense bonds that mature in July and September.

When the national defense bonds are redeemed by the new gold parity bonds, the maximum of the state floating debt will be fixed at the amount existing on the day the bond subscriptions are closed.

The Caillaux bill fixes the circulation of bank notes at 51,000,000,000 francs instead of 45,000,000,000, and the advances to the state by the bank at 32,000,000,000 francs instead of 26,000,000,000.

The bill gives the government the right to fix the exact terms of the new bond issued by government decree. The preamble of the bill says the treasury's shortage is partly due to the continued repayment of national defense bonds. It says the maturing bonds for which the holders demand payment total 1,800,000,000 francs for July and 2,800,000,000 francs for September.

The new issue of gold parity bonds will be offered only in exchange for the maturing defense bonds, but the exchange will not be obligatory, the bill says.

TWO RUNAWAY GIRLS RUN OVER BY TRAIN

Alceter, S. Dak. — Two girls dressed in boys clothing and beating their way to their Dakota homes in the company of two youth of Beresford, S. D., were killed Friday when a Chicago and Northwestern freight train ran them down near here. The girls were Gladys Kemst, 15, of Beresford, and Alma Stevens, 17, of Centerville.

Suicidal intent on the part of the girls was hinted at by their companions Ralph Carlson and Edmund Roman, both of Beresford. The boys had left the girls to go to a nearby farm house to ask for something to eat and returned to find the freight stopped and the crew picking up the bodies. One of the girls talked of taking her life, it was said.

SEARCH FOR CHICAGO GANGSTERS IN SMALL WISCONSIN VILLAGE

Chicago.—An automobile squad of detectives armed with rifles and shot guns departed Friday for a small Wisconsin town in search of a band of gunmen believed to have been located.

The name of the village of the village was not divulged by the police who believed the gun men had gone to the Wisconsin point to go into hiding after committing a crime in Chicago, and were unaware that the police had learned of their presence there.

The police said that the town was "about 100 miles from Milwaukee" but withheld any other information.

The gunmen were said to be under surveillance at a Wisconsin resort and police suspected they may have been the band that killed policeman Charles Dean.

HUGE CATHEDRAL IN NEW YORK IS STRUCK BY BOLT

St. Patrick's, Museum, Hospital and Church Play-things of Storm

By Associated Press
New York.—Greater New York was recovering Friday from the effects of a thunderstorm during which lightning struck a cathedral, a museum, hospital and church.

A bolt knocked an arm from the cross atop one of the two majestic spires of St. Patrick cathedral on Fifth-ave while 400 persons, many of them worshippers, were inside the edifice.

A five-ton granite ball was knocked from the tower of the American Museum of Natural history by another bolt. The ball tore a hole in the roof, shattering windows and ripped up 25 feet of stone wall along a driveway.

Lightning hit the North Hudson hospital and Emanuel Evangelical church in Union City, N. J. The hospital's electric cable was blown out and smoke filled the lobby. Fifty patients were thrown into a panic. A hole four feet long was torn in the tower of the church.

The storm broke at the night rush hour Thursday. Five persons were killed, 100 injured in New Jersey and 42 injured. A one man trolley running wild down hill in Jersey City crashed into a crowded car ahead killing three and injuring 41. Two persons were killed near Hammond where their automobile skidded. Two more were injured. Eight others were hurt in a Brooklyn trolley accident.

The president feels, of course, that there is no such thing as a vacation in the presidential office so he calls it merely a change in atmosphere from Washington. Thus far it has been cold and bleak here but Mr. Coolidge thrives on New England climate.

With the setting up of executive offices at Lynn about four miles from the president's home, the facilities for running the government of the United States are just as complete as they are in the White House study.

Telegraph and telephone are handy, in fact everybody except the heads of the government departments with whom personal conferences will necessarily be missed, Mr. Coolidge expects, however, to send for a number of officials and will have several visits from General Lord, director of the budget.

BLAINE VETOES DRUG STORE OWNERSHIP BILL

Madison.—The State pharmacy bill requiring the ownership and operation of drug stores by registered pharmacists or physicians, was vetoed Friday by Governor Blaine. The bill, the executive said, would create a monopoly in chain drug store business because it would permit present chain systems to maintain and extend their stores without permitting new chain systems to organize. Sponsors of the measure said it was designed to exterminate "bootlegging and narcotic selling" drug stores.

The governor also vetoed a bill which would have authorized the issuance for $1 of a new license to automobile owners whose cars were lost by fire, theft or accident. Motor vehicle owners should not be underwritten by the state on account of their losses and it would tend to create confusion and promote the possibility of fraud, the executive said.

COPS TRAIL GYPSIES; FIND INDIANS INSTEAD

Persons who cannot distinguish between Indians and gypsies kept the police busy Thursday. Officers were called at S. Mason-st near Allen park where it was said that a band of gypsies were operating. It was found, however, that the persons in question were Indian women who visit here every year to sell baskets which they have made during the winter months.

Republicans Lay Groundwork for Permanent Organization in County

Preliminary steps for organizing a permanent Republican organization in Outagamie-co were taken at a meeting of Republicans called by the Coolidge-Daves club in the Conway hotel Thursday afternoon. The meeting was strictly informal and was devoted to a discussion of ways and means for organizing so that Outagamie-co Republicans will be a force in Wisconsin politics.

It was decided to call a public mass-meeting in two or three weeks to complete organization and elect officers. Arrangements probably will be made to have committeemen in every precinct in the county so that a compact and smooth-working organization will be possible.

W. D. Campbell, Oshkosh, president of the Wisconsin Republican league, presided at Thursday's meeting. He outlined the necessity for a strong county organization and urged Republicans to be prepared for the coming campaigns.

Mark Fuerstenberg, 229 Rankin-st, has returned to his home from St. Elizabeth hospital where he submitted to an operation two weeks ago.

REUTER REMAINS HERE TO CONDUCT SERVICE

Flies And Mosquitoes Breathe Black Flag and Die—Not One Escapes Alive!

BLACK FLAG is the surest killer of bugs ever discovered. It kills every fly, mosquito and roach that gets into your home. Not one escapes. For BLACK FLAG contains a secret vegetable ingredient that pests breathe and die. But it is absolutely harmless to humans and animals.

It is the deadliness of BLACK FLAG that makes it different from ordinary insecticides which kill, at best, only 6 out of every 10 bugs. The four which get away breed hundreds which return. But BLACK FLAG kills them all—10 out of every 10 pests.

Every kind of insect pest in the home is killed by BLACK FLAG. It kills—besides flies, mosquitoes and roaches—ants, bedbugs, dog fleas, moths, plant lice and chicken lice. Either form of BLACK FLAG—powder or liquid—will kill these pests. Both are equally effective, with just three exceptions—always use the powder to kill dog fleas and lice. Never use any liquid on furs; use the powder to make them moth-proof.

The greatest of insect killers. Kills every roach, too!

Many people use both, preferring the liquid to kill flies, mosquitoes and moths—and the powder to kill ants, roaches, bedbugs, dog fleas and lice. BLACK FLAG costs less. Powder, 15c up. Sprayer, 45c. Introductory package containing can of liquid and sprayer for only 65c. At drug, grocery, hardware and department stores. Buy BLACK FLAG today.

22,000 are Nokols

Here two Nokols are shown. One installed in a typical home heating plant, the other in a water heater.

The success of automatic oil heating for the home depends on the perfection of this combustion chamber. It cannot be imitated. It acts entirely by radiant heat. No part of the flame touches the boiler.

Of 75,000 automatic oil burners installed in the United States, by 347 manufacturers, 22,000 are Nokols. The leadership of Nokol, established 7 years ago, when the first automatic oil heater for homes—a Nokol—was installed, has never been challenged. Nokol leadership has been maintained through its performance in the home, in the hands of its users. It has been maintained by constant refinements in the Nokol mechanism.

Today Nokol gives guarantees of economy and efficiency approached by no other home heating device. It uses a higher grade of fuel than most oil burners would dare use. If they did use it their fuel cost would be prohibitive.

The fuel cost of Nokol is less than that of hard coal. It is also to the best of our knowledge, less than that of any other oil burner, regardless of the grade of fuel used.

More Nokols are being sold this year than ever before. Make sure of having yours by fall by getting in touch with us today. Phone or call.

LA FOLLETTE WAS BEST LOVED MAN IN WHOLE SENATE

Even Senator Lodge Embraced Him After the Presidential Campaign of 1924

BY CHARLES P. STEWART
Washington — Robert M. La Follette was one of the most popular men who ever sat in the United States senate — among his fellow senators.

STEWART

This may seem like a queer thing to say, considering that he was read out of his own party only a few months ago. To judge from the tone of senatorial debate in which he took part, it would be natural for an outsider to conclude that he was regarded, except within the small circle of those who fought under his banner, at any rate toward the end of his career, as an embittered cankerous old man.

Nothing could be farther from the truth. Lawbreakers who were as far away from him as the poles are apart, so far as concerned politics, personally loved him. They valued his knowledge, admired his character and gave him full credit for the highest ability and honesty.

On all railroad questions he was recognized as perhaps the senate's foremost authority — equally so in tariff matters and to a great extent on monetary problems.

Occasionally a new senator arrived in Washington, unaware of the esteem in which the veteran Wisconsin statesman was regarded and inclined to look at him askance, but it never took these juniors long to discover how high was his standing, among Republicans and Democrats alike, at the capitol.

Who would think, now that La Follette and the late Senator Lodge were the warmest friends? One of the most dramatic scenes in the senate's history followed La Follette's first appearance on the floor of the upper house after his independent presidential campaign of 1924.

Senator McCormick was making a speech at the time. La Follette took his seat directly in the shadow of the Illinois solon's waving arms. It was somewhat difficult for others to reach him under the cloud of this gesticulation.

Lodge dodged about, like a bantamweight fighter trying to get past an antagonist's defense, finally seized his chance, ducked under McCormick's elbow, as he tossed a hand on high, and threw his arms about his old friend's neck.

Then others thronged around. The McCormick speech was forgotten and the orator himself joined the reception committee.

When Lodge left Washington, to attend last year's Republican convention in Cleveland, it was known his standing with the administration group of politicians was none too good.

"If there's anything the Wisconsin delegation can do to help you," they say La Follette told him, as they said "Goodby, 'let me know'."

A funny offer from the senate's ultra-radical to its ultra-conservative and doubtless said more than half in joke—but with more than a little sincerity back of it, for all that.

"Thanks," Lodge is quoted as answering, "but I don't intend to place myself in any position where I'll need help."

The late Boise Penrose, too, who'd think of him and La Follette, as those who knew him best will testify, really admitted the Pennsylvania, not as a machine politician, but for being so frankly himself—no "bunk," no sham—just, out and out, himself.

"What will be the political effect of La Follette's death?" all Washington is asking. "Is Progressivism weakened by it?"

It's too soon to say. The Progressives aren't a hard-and-fast group. Their membership varies.

It isn't as if a party, had lost leader which it can't replace. Progressivism may not even have lost a vote, for it's on the cards that another La Follette will replace La Follette himself in the senate next winter.

Still, a great personality, a great strategist, a great champion of the cause he stood for has gone.

MAENNERCHOR SINGS AT CLINTONVILLE SUNDAY

The Appleton Maennerchor and mixed choir will entertain Clintonville people with a program in the Grand theatre Sunday afternoon in which 15 of the eighteen numbers will be sung in German and the others in English. Most of the selections are folk songs and classic melodies, but there also will be several humorous numbers.

Peter H. Jacobs, director of the choir, has selected songs for soloists, duets, quartets and the chorus, so there will be variety. The Maennerchor has been practicing for several weeks in preparation for this event, and will carry on an intensive system of rehearsals from now on in preparation for its first appearance at the summer band concert in Pierce park next week.

Steamship officials estimate that American and Canadian tourists to Europe this summer will exceed 250,000. This will be the greatest number in history.

TAX BURDEN ON BUSINESS

President Coolidge says he is convinced that excessive taxes are a heavy drag on business and national prosperity. Let us briefly consider the relation of the tax burden to the difficulties of the Chicago & Northwestern railroad, which is undergoing a reorganization of its executive department in the hope of improving its finances.

Gross revenues of the Northwestern showed a decrease in 1924 of 6.84 per cent as compared with 1923. Freight revenues decreased 8.5 per cent, while passenger revenues were 6 per cent less than in the preceding year. In the year 1913 the Northwestern paid taxes amounting to $3,765,159. In 1924 it paid out in taxes $9,348,841. This is more than 2½ times the taxes paid before the war, or an increase of 150 per cent. It is an increase out of proportion to increases in other costs. In 1924 the road's taxes consumed 6.26 per cent of its operating revenues. In the face of this startling rise in the tax overhead, the company has suffered declines in traffic in recent years.

How does this tax burden affect the public? The answer is that it affects every shipper and consumer in the territory served by the Northwestern. In order to make both ends meet the Northwestern has asked the Interstate Commerce commission for an increase in freight rates. If it is not given the company is so sure of the justice of its application that it intends to carry its case into the federal courts. If the rates are increased, as they probably will be, it will be partly due to the excessive tax overhead. The purchaser of every commodity shipped by rail will pay a part of this tax overhead—is paying it now.

The daily tax bill of the American people is beyond comprehension. In federal expenditures alone they pay more than $10,000,000 every 24 hours. This is aside from state and local taxes. Speaking of the matter of further tax reduction, Mr. Coolidge says: "The direct beneficiaries are composed of those who file the 9,000,000 tax returns. The indirect beneficiaries are all the rest of the American people, who must and do make an indirect contribution to the payment of the enormous tax load of the nation."

While reduced taxes appear to be of chief benefit to those who directly pay the taxes, they indirectly are of more benefit to those who do not pay taxes. It is the consumer who profits the most in the long run by economy in government expenditures and reduced taxation which this permits. We are taxing industry and business far beyond production and sound economy, as is illustrated in the case of the Chicago & Northwestern railroad.

ROALD JUST MISSES

Roald Amundsen came to within two and a half degrees of the north pole by airplane—a little farther than from Grand Rapids to Detroit. A gasoline supply diminishing faster than all calculations brought him down; the ice held one of his planes in its grip; and the gasoline reserve of his remaining plane was at an end when he finally landed his entire party on the island of Spitzbergen. The fishing boat which happened by was only an incident, reducing the hardships of the trip but in no way standing as a vital factor.

When he alighted north of 87 degrees, Amundsen sounded and found that the ocean was nearly two miles deep. He discovered no new land, though he covered far more territory than any other polar explorer. He confirmed, so far as the minor sensation of a trip, which did not succeed can confirm it, the growing belief that the arctic is simply an ocean, the air above which is a marvelous shortcut. Very slight mechanical improvements in his planes would have rendered practicable not only a trip from Spitzbergen to the pole and back, but one on across to Wrangell island, off Siberia, or to the north Alaskan coast.

There need be no doubt but that commercial and exploratory aviation will soon make up the insignificant two and a half degrees and convince the world that Amundsen was fundamentally right. Aviation genius will not be balked by as small a mechanical problem as that.

WHY COOLIDGE WORKS

It is neither complimentary nor very sagacious to give President Coolidge fulsome praise for a vacation of work, a vacation most of us wouldn't call a vacation at all.

For if Mr. Coolidge felt he could obtain better recreation from golf, or travel, or the urbanities of polite society, from much fishing or other of the wholesome and even admirable pleasures of his predecessor, we may be quite sure that he would turn to them to refresh him. A clear mind at all times being the first requisite of a man in his office, the reviving effects of a complete holiday, divorced from all "shop," have been sought honestly and even wisely by most presidents in their day.

Mr. Coolidge's "summer capitol," his office hours through the hot days, his special executive headquarters near his summering place, are evidence simply of a rare type of mind and temperament. Early in the president's term observers began to suspect that he positively liked work; that the feeling of a letter answered or a task well done was his constant pleasure and the sense of a clean desk, a mind free of details at the end of each day, better medicine for him than even his studious hikes or his conscientious session with the hobby horse.

Mark Twain once told in "Prince and Pauper" of the poor soul who lived in the thriving and roaring shop existence of London bridge. Moved thence one day, and taken from the routine of that hurly-burly to spend his last days in peace in a country cottage, he found that there was no peace and begged to be returned to the strident music of the old bridgeside. An office, is the president's London bridge. He is happiest on the job, a condition shared with him by only the most fortunate of men.

NEWS AND INTEREST

The only way to arouse interest in anything, in this news-ridden world, is to make news of it. And the way to make news of it is to start a fight over it. Do that, and you can make news, and therefore a popular issue, of even the multiplication table, the ten commandments and the eternal verities.

This is the reason why evolution is in everybody's mouth. Except for its momentary involvement in the other issue of freedom of knowledge and teaching, there is nothing new about evolution. It is no different an issue than it has always been.

But a law, a lawsuit, and the participation of prominent men have made it news. Therefore, everybody is suddenly interested; and the people will learn more about evolution in three months from the newspapers than they would in 30 years from books.

JUST PURP

He's a fuzzy little fellow with a coat of brown and yellow, and he looks for all he's worth, just like a tramp. 'Twas the little folks who found him. To a back-yard stake they bound him. Now we all have learned to love the little scamp. Romp and play is what his game is. No one knows just what his name is. We have called him Pete and Trix and Jim and Toot. But just name him what you can, sir, and you'll find he'll always answer, 'cause he's friendly, is this funny little scamp. Matter not where you may find him, all the kids are right behind him, for they follow Mister Purp the live long day. True, he must have been a rover, for he'll eat what food's left over, and he's always glad to get what comes his way. Pedigree? Perhaps a high one. Then again, he's likely shy one, for we really never will know from where he came. What's the difference if he's a tramp, when he's cute and always scampish, and a mighty lovin' puppy just the same? IT'S JUST NATURE

"As a disciple of yours since the inception of your campaign," writes a Michigan man whose style I like, "I am both diet and 'gout' proof. I missed my symptoms long ago. I put my health account against my bank account and I expect to check against 'health account' for years to come." There are three pages yet to come. The introductory blarney may or may not carry us through the three pages. I think I am like our old cat about that. If he purrs when you stroke his head or scratch his neck you've made a hit with him; but if he just stands and switches his tail, look out. My Michigan friend makes me purr like a tea kettle. Now let him introduce the star of the piece.

"My wife, a little lady 42 years old, weighs 100 pounds. She is now, and has been for several years, harrassed with the idea that there is something wrong with her. She has taken everything from, Wahoo bitters to tincture, poultice and Amelia Spinnaker's Golden Blossom extract. She figures that she has neuritis, by way of a central motif, and of course a sensitive, easily disturbed stomach. Her latest move was to join the diet brigade—every member of her bridge club is more or less a diet specialist. "For nearly three months now she has stuck to the following diet without a break, except now and then a three day fast: From 2½ to three quarts of raw milk daily, taken in various combinations. Dates, apples, bananas, raisins, figs, prunes, apricots, oranges, lemons, lettuce. Breakfast is a cup of hot water and about a third of the day's allowance of milk, with say dates and apple. But these items must come precisely 30 minutes (not 25) before the milk. Noon lunch—same order. Night, same order. Then before retiring she eats two Florida oranges."

The poor fellow goes on to ask anxiously whether this is an adequate ration for a 100 pound woman whose energy output is represented by a grand slam at bridge.

Except for the three day fasts, the bill of fare sounds adequate enough, though a fair amount of meat, eggs, fish, fowl and cheese would be better than so much milk.

I do sympathize with Mr. Michigan a whole lot, no kidding, and it isn't all on account of his introductory compliment either.

The man has a wife. But that isn't anything. Lots of other men have 'em. A strong healthy man shouldn't complain, especially with such a little wife. Suppose he had a great big one, who if necessary could break a bottle of tincture over his coco.

The little wife has an obsession. That's what wins my sympathy for any husband. Worse still this obsession takes the form of dietotherapy, and that is the one kind of modern quackery which seems to appeal strongly to the intellectual, at least until they are ready to renounce all rational ideas and take up some freak cult or ism which will serve as a sort of way station or purgatory for a time on the way to absolute insanity.

"The food specialists" and "diet experts"—who seem to be born, not made—take full advantage of the total ignorance of the average intelligent layman in matters of physiology, chemistry, biology and other low vulgar subjects which pertain to human life, and presuming upon that innocence these gilded charlatans work the same old racket on the prospect, the same old trick which has always been the life of the nostrum and quackery business, the appeal of mystery. I have been gravely informed by a good many lawyers, ministers, teachers who are college graduates, and editors of real magazines, that certain food combinations which one may perhaps enjoy almost every day are harmful or even poisonous in certain cases.

FINE POINTS

Just why can you call a girl—a chicken but not a hen? A terror but not a fright? A little devil but not a demon? A kitten but not a cat? A lamb but not a sheep? A vision but not a sight?

Speaking of fine points, we are reminded of the favorite expression of Pat Ryan, "He certainly is a card." Now as to the point, which card is he, the joker or the knave?

Every time it rains hereabouts and the wind starts to blow, Appleton people begin to think of a tornado. That is the result of the Illinois tornado. The publicity we gave that big storm ought to be marked down as advertising for insurance agents, and it might be a good stunt for Walter the Collector (we've got this straight) to pay them a visit.

Tornadoes never strike in the same place, we are told. But there is reason for that. There is never anything left after the first visit.

Easterners' class tornadoes with Indians, cow boys and other things western.

WITHOUT A DOUBT

Roll: There will be no lack of corn in Greenville this fall no matter if the corn crops does fail. Henry Ehlers has built himself a scarecrow, and not only does this masterpiece keep the crows out of his fields, but so lifelike and terrifying is its appearance that the black robbers have begun to return all of the corn they stole during the last three seasons. Henry and some of his nearest neighbors already have partly filled their corncribs with the returned loot, and more reports of restored plunder are being made every day. The truth of this statement is vouched for by an employee of Uncle Sam whose veracity is beyond the shadow of a doubt.

World's News Told In Brief, Simple Style

BY CHARLES P. STEWART

When Judge Kennedy handed down his decision at Cheyenne upholding ex-Secretary of the Interior Fall's Teapot Dome leases to Harry Sinclair, friends of all the men hit by the oil inquiry hurried to President Coolidge with the news.

"Everybody vindicated!" they cried. The president was strangely unenthusiastic. He couldn't forget that Judge McCormick, at Los Angeles decided the Doheny case the other way.

"This doesn't prove anything," he's quoted as having rasped. "Let's see how it comes out on appeal."

That cautious New England temperament again!

WISCONSIN

Since Senator La Follette's death, Washington's eyes have been turned in intense interest on Wisconsin.

The late senator's political organization is in control there and can fill his seat for the balance of his term, which expires in 1925.

But whether it will be able to retain his place after that depends largely upon the choice of the individual to hold it in the meantime.

Mrs. La Follette seems the strong candidate, if she will accept.

Attorney General Herman Ekern is said to have been La Follette's own choice as his successor, though the titular head of his party, with his death, is Gov. John J. Blaine.

Congressman John M. Nelson, Progressive leader in the house of representatives, also is in the front rank.

IN THE ARCTIC

Nothing frets members of the MacMillan-Navy arctic expedition more than the suggestion that they're hunting the north pole.

The party, now on its way, aims to study the polar region in general, especially with a view to finding new land in the far north, but it has no interest in the pole itself.

Why does it seek land in so remote a spot? Well, for one thing, as a stopping place for airplanes, short-cutting across the pole.

And there are hints of oil in the arctic wastes. Scientific curiosity has something to do with the trip, too.

If the expedition does find land, it means to annex it for the United States. Canada, on the other hand, says any island between her northern coast and the pole belong to her. This may mean an argument—but not war.

CAPTAIN AMUNDSEN

Captain Amundsen, back in Spitzbergen from his aerial polar dash, doesn't much think the MacMillan outfit will find any land. At any rate there's no arctic continent, he says.

Amundsen didn't cover the whole field, however. Even agreeing there's no continent, there may be big islands he missed.

Amundsen, by the way, returning from the top of the earth, was picked up by a fishing boat.

How did that fishing boat happen to be in waters only explorers are supposed to penetrate?

It recalls the story of Walter Wellman who, in distress in one of the highest latitudes ever attained by any explorer of his time, was rescued by a sealer—south-bound.

Adventures In The Library

By ARNOLD MULDER

WASHINGTON IRVING, INTERNATIONALIST

In a new book, "Washington Irving, Esquire," George S. Hellman has done something of real value by pointing out the service that the author of "Rip Van Winkle," "The Legend of Sleepy Hollow," and "Knickerbocker's History" rendered his country by merely being himself and refusing to yield to the importunities of people who thought he ought to serve his country directly. There are times when in direction is the most direct way, as in Irving's case.

In his youth Irving was a popular man about town in New York. He was the friend of presidents and governors and mayors. After he had become famous with his earlier books his friends urged him to enter politics and become a power in the young republic. There was every reason to believe that he would be successful and that he might attain to high position politically.

But Irving knew better. He consistently refused public office, except once when he went as minister to Spain, but he took that position because it would advance his work as a writer as he wanted to study Spain. For the rest he steered clear of office and he accepted with equanimity the reproaches of his friends that he was not doing his duty toward his country.

He was firmly convinced that a writer advances the interests of his country best by being a writer and leaving politics to others. If he had yielded to his friends and had frittered away his time and energies in politics American would have had one more indifferent politician and would have lost, partially at least, one of its greatest writers.

But that would not have been all in Irving's case. It happens that with the establishment of right relations between Europe and America in those early troubled days during the generation that followed the war of 1812 than a dozen politicians combined. He went to Europe and lived a quite literary life there for many years. He became the friend of the great writers and public men of England and the continent. Walter Scott admired him and became his friend. Byron was his admirer, queens and kings praised him and eagerly read his books. He represented in his personality American culture and he was the first international figure that created a feeling of unity and understanding between the two countries. He was immensely popular at home as well as abroad, he was the connecting link between Europe and America.

NEEDED THAT LINK

And such a link was greatly needed in those times. The American republic was an experiment in government, looked at with something of the same hostility by Europe with which most of the nations of the world took at the Russian experiment today. Added to hostility was a feeling of contempt for the American people, American culture. The average European thought of us as a land of barbarians, backwoodsman, people who ate with their knives and who wore cowhide boots.

Washington Irving, by merely being himself, a charming gentleman of culture and refinement as well as a literary genius, did a great deal to take away this impression. He was not consciously trying to establish relations of friendship between the young republic and the older countries of Europe but his life abroad had that effect. His instinct had been right that a writer is the best patriot by sticking to his last.

Then as always the politician had a well developed bump of contempt for the mere writer and his services to his country. There were probably hundreds of little political fixers in Irving's day who would have laughed at the idea that "Rip Van Winkle" was patriotic service to America, but we know today that it has done more for this country than the solemn state papers of a half a dozen politicians.

Girls Learn To Provide Own Care

How many Appleton girls would know what to do if they should at some time be lost in the woods for several days with only nature's products for food? The forests, lakes, and streams at their disposal for subsistence? Probably a large percentage of them would be quite helpless, and would be more or less starved when rescued, but this should never be the case with the girls who are going to attend Appleton Women's club annual camp at Onaway Island, near Waupaca, beginning July 24. For these girls are not going camping simply to have a good time, but to learn to take a popular summer resort. They will also be taught to their knowledge of outdoor life, camp cooking, making of camp utensils, and building camp shelters.

One of the primary aims of the women's club camp this year is to have the girls get away from the idea of being at a camp that is fully equipped with the modern conveniences of the city, and go to a camp which is quite primitive where the girls will do almost everything for themselves.

Miss Isabelle Milhaupt is in charge of outdoor cooking lessons to be given to the girls at Onaway Island. Many unique ideas for camp dishes or new combinations of foods will be tried out at the camp. A good example of one of these is the so-called "ranger on horse back." These are squares of cheese about an inch thick wrapped in bacon and toasted on sticks. Just how this particular delicacy came by this strange name is hard to surmise for "bacon" and "horse" are by no means synonymous terms.

Girls will also be taught how to build camp fires which burn when they are lit, not those which flicker feebly for a few moments, flare up and then go out for the reason they are not properly made. The principle of cooking on a camp crane also will be taught to the girls at the Onaway camp. This is a device which saves dishwashing on a large scale.

Two large forked sticks are driven into the ground on opposite sides of the camp fire. A pole is laid across these sticks at a height of about two feet over the fire. Then the food can be cooked by suspending a kettle or pot from the cross bar over the fire by means of a pothook.

A pothook will be one of the important camp utensils the girls who take up outdoor cooking will learn to make. It is simply a stick with a peg or notch at both ends, one end being used to hang on the cross bar of the crane, and the other to hang the handle of the kettle or the pot. There are various styles of pothooks, some simple, and other quite elaborate.

The peg type of pothook is made from a green stick in each end of which holes are bored at an angle. Pegs are fitted into these holes so that the stick may be hung on the cross bar of the frame, and a kettle hung on the lower peg. For a pothook of the notch type a forked stick is used. The fork of the stick is the part used to hang the stick to the crane cross bar, and a notch is cut in the other end of the stick in which the handle of the kettle is hung. Two forked sticks bound together by wire also make a good pothook, the forked end of each stick serving as the two pegs on the pothook.

Practice in setting up shelters of boughs may also be a feature of the Waupaca camping trip. The camp will have the primitive atmosphere, rather than the modern summer resort atmosphere, which is characteristic of so many of the modern "camps."

CONSERVE CAR PARKING SPACE, CHIEF ADVISES

Plenty of Place to Park Cars if Autoists Use Ordinary Judgment

Autoists themselves can help the parking shortage situation here if they will use common sense when stopping their cars in the downtown section, Chief George T. Prim of the police department declares. Considerable space is wasted because of the fear of some drivers that they are violating parking rules.

Chief Prim advises autoists to be careful not to take more space than they need. They are obliged to keep a certain distance from every corner and fire hydrant, but white lines are marked on the pavement to show where the limitations are. Cars may be parked right up to the line. The driver does not need to leave several yards between the machine and the line for good measure.

Each autoist, after he stops his car on the side streets adjoining the avenue, should look around before he leaves. Often a driver parks further away from other machines than necessary. In this way he probably takes up space enough to take care of two autos instead of one. The better way would be to drive up to a point four or five feet from the next machine. Each block then can accommodate several more cars.

There is no reason for parking wrong on College-ave and become a "parking hog," the chief says. The spaces are plainly marked and all cars should be within the lines. Just as soon as one driver oversteps into the next stall, he throws the whole row of machines out of line and keeps out several machines that otherwise could be accommodated.

An effort has been made by the police to make better use of W. Midway for parking purposes. Business men have been placing their cars there instead of using College-ave. Some trouble was caused when they parked in front of the driveway entrances but this has been remedied by painting "no parking" warnings on the pavement in large white letters where entrances are to be left. Quite a number of cars are accommodated back of the stores in the yard space not needed for use of trucks going in and out.

Drivers also should be careful not to park with the rear end of the machine two feet or more out from the curb, Chief Prim cautions. This is an annoyance to other motorists and invites congestion and accidents. It is a good rule, he says, for all autoists to observe the advice of the American Automobile association, which states, "Don't leave your car until you are sure that you have not overlooked any opportunity to accommodate another car. Sometimes your car will be the one that is in need of the spare space."

Dance at Greenville
Heine's orchestra, reputed to be one of the premier dance music organizations of Chicago, will furnish the music for a dancing party to be conducted by Charles Malone at Greenville next Sunday. The orchestra, it has said, has made records for a well known phonograph company and has played for radio programs.

A Woman's Way

"I tried for four months to get my wife to try Mayr's Wonderful Remedy, which I know had helped a friend of mine who also suffered from stomach trouble. She insisted her case was different. I finally had to bribe her with a new dress. The first dose produced remarkable results, cleaning up her complexion and restoring her appetite. She can now eat things she hadn't been able to for many years. It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. At all druggists. adv."

FARMERS WANT GAS TAX TO CUT PROPERTY TAX

Farmers of Outagamie-co and of Wisconsin generally are overwhelmingly in favor of using the extra funds raised by the recently enacted gasoline tax to reduce the general property tax, rather than for further highway improvement, according to information received from I. M. Wright, secretary of the Wisconsin Farm Bureau federation.

Questionnaires were sent to county and town clerks some time ago by the federation. The replies to these questionnaires revealed that out of 274-585 farmers who voted on the question, 25,559 wanted the funds to be applied to property tax reduction. While only 910 desired that the money be used for an extended county highway building program.

In Outagamie-co 236 farmers voted for the property tax reduction, while only two favored the county highway extension. In Brown-co the vote was unanimous for property tax reduction, while in Winnebago-co 160 farmers voted for property tax reduction, and six for the highway program. Manitowish-co showed the largest number of farmers in favor of the road building of any county yet reported. Here 151 farmers voted for reduction of the general property tax, and 44 for the county highway extension program.

FAIMAN WANTED BALDWIN LAND

Notorious Chicago "Doctor" Started Negotiations With Appleton Man

Charles C. Faiman, one of the principals in the famous Shepherd "germ murder" trial in Chicago, at one time opened negotiations with H. G. Thomas, as representative of the Baldwin Corporation, to purchase a large tract of land in Marquette-co in Michigan. Faiman testified in the case that he sold the typhoid germs which Shepherd is alleged to have given "Billy" McClintock, his foster son, to cause his death.

Faiman said he wanted a description of the 1,191 acre tract in Marquette-co as he wished to purchase land on a lake near a good road. The letter head of Faiman's letter bears the title "National University of Sciences," the school which Faiman conducted in Chicago. Faiman's name is printed in the upper left hand corner with three degrees after it, namely Ph.B. M. D. and L. L. D.

Prominent in the letter head are the names of the courses which Faiman had to offer in his National University

EARLY PEA CROP ONLY 60 PER CENT OF NORMAL

The crop of early peas in Outagamie-co is not quite up to the expectations of farmers of the county, although it is somewhat better than last year, according to the harvesters. All of the early peas have been harvested and the crop rates about 60 percent of normal. Most of the harvesters expect better results with the late peas.

Housework--- A Modern Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde

Housework is Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde — it rests with the housewife as to which one will be her companion. Housework can be good. It also can be bad. Housework can be a pleasure. It also can be drudgery. Housework can be done in an hour. It also can take all day to do.

The housewife holds the balance—which shall it be?

There are many ways of eliminating unnecessary work about the house. One of the ways is to phone for food.

No tedious trip to the grocers. No waiting in line. No worry over a place to park the car if the housewife has one. No work carrying home a lot of bundles....

Aladdin-rubbed the lamp to get the best. The modern housewife sits down in a comfortable chair and uses the telephone.

Awaits Closing of Navigation
for Few Days

Kaukauna—Steel construction on the new bridge across the Fox river has been completed. Progress is being held up for a few weeks until it becomes possible to set up the steel work of the draw bridge across the transportation canal. Inasmuch as the workmen could not have full use of the right of way it was deemed advisable to discontinue work until navigation is closed temporarily in a week or ten days.

Repair work on the lock and channel at DePere is being undertaken and it will be necessary in a short time to close navigation until the work is completed. During the closed period the bridge contractors expect to set up the draw bridge, a task which will require from seven to ten days. It is expected the work will be started between July 1 and July 7.

When the steel structure is finished both bridges will receive the final touches. The roadway and sidewalks will be paved with concrete. The opportunity closing of navigation will make it unnecessary to build the draw bridge suspended in air was first planned.

CHICAGO MAN IS VICTIM OF WILY
COUNTRY MAIDEN

Selma Abraham, New London, Arrested After Brief
Romance in Windy City

New London—Romance has been tossed into the ash can for Luke O'Connor, of Milwaukee, through the depredations of one Charles Boswell, of Chicago, and Selma Abraham, of New London. Not only is romance gone, but $310 of Luke's hard earned cash flitted with it. His sweetheart, Selma Abraham, 20, was fined $250 in district court at Milwaukee last week. A man with whom she was living, Charles Boswell, 26, also paid a fine of $250.

When Luke met Selma a short time ago, he believed it a case of love at first sight. He gave her a wedding ring. They set the date for the wedding. A wedding outfit cost $110 more, but his money was gone, and he prepared to borrow more for the affair.

It was then Selma and Boswell, who had been "playing Luke for a sucker," decided to make a final cleanup and skip town. When Selma met the enamored man she was weeping and showed him a telegram from New London saying that her father was dead and that she was to return home at once and pay the funeral expenses. She asked Luke to lend her the money to return home, and Luke went out to borrow it for her. But while he was gone, two Milwaukee detectives, who had been watching the performance and suspected that things were not as they should be, stepped in and took the pair into custody.

And then the whole story came out. Luke gave his account, that led to the fines for the pair.

Recommendations of Hotels, Hospitals, Railroad Companies and other public institutions are a guarantee to the public that the safest, quickest and most economical way of ridding the pesky insects is by the use of P. D. Q., as this chemical kills the eggs as well as the live ones, and will not injure the clothing.

A 3c package makes a full quart, enough to kill a million bedbugs, roaches, moths or cockroaches—and also contains a patent spout to get the eggs nests in the hard-to-get-at places and saves juice. P. D. Q. can also be purchased in sealed bottles, double strength, liquid form. adv.

SCREENSTORY BY AUTHOR OF "RAIN" TO APPEAR ON LOCAL SCREEN

"East of Suez," Pola Negri's latest starring picture for Paramount, challenges for color and richness anything before seen on the screen. The settings included in the picture, which was adapted from Somerset Maugham's play by the same name, shows a magnificent Chinese household furnished with gorgeous eastern hangings, idols of bronze, and rare Chinese carpets, a Chinese garden, a Chinese Temple which rivals in magnificence the famed places of Peking, scenes on an ocean liner and an amazing array of fashion which contrasts the modes of Paris as compared with the Orient.

A thrill crowded melodrama, with suffocating suspense in many of the high spots. The scene where the old Chinese merchant cunningly contrives to force Pola to marry him, the scene in which she is led to believe that she is half Chinese and her friends shun her offers Pola a chance for emotional acting in excess of her past several pictures. There is a big twist in the scene in which Fellowes after drinking the poisoned wine goes down the steps to kill her sweet heart only to find the most of the way in his death struggles.

This photoplay will be shown at Fischer's Appleton Theatre this Sunday and Monday. On the same program will be shown a Gleen Tyrone comedy "Wages of Sin." Topics of the Day, and at the matinee sex and extra reels will be shown as an added attraction.

"THE BRASS BOWL"
A story of the kind the fans prefer to most others is announced with the showing of "The Brass Bowl," starring Edmund Lowe at the New Bi-you theatre today and Saturday. This is the second picture William Fox has produced with Mr. Lowe in the stellar role and he selected this Louis Joseph Vance classic because it offers a plenty of the mystery, action and love interest the devotees to the cinema art desire on most.

The story has to do with the extraordinary adventures of a wealthy bachelor resulting from his close physical resemblance to a master crook. Mistaken identity is given several new and surprising twists and when the hero falls in love with what seems to be a wicked girl crook he meets in the course of his being mistaken, the audience is given ample cause to gasp as one suspenseful moment follows another. When the girl turns out to be someone else, and the hero is all but doomed because others are convinced he is the crook, something totally unexpected happens and once more the audience is given occasion to gasp.

WHITE FANG

The glittering snows of trackless Alaska, the furtive, flitting grey shadows of the Wolf Pack, and the great acting of "Strongheart" the world's most famous dog, will be seen for the last time locally on the screen at the Elite Theatre today, when "White Fang" has its last showing. The Jack London story, transferred to the screen with marvelous vividness by June Murfin and Lawrence Trimble, with its smashing drama splashed in gorgeous colors across the vast panoramic background of some of the most beautiful scenery ever shot with a camera. Nothing is better proof of the value a real story on the screen than on those all too rare occasions when a novel of London's finds its way to the silver sheet.

A WOMAN'S FAITH

In "A Woman's Faith" Universal-Jewel production to be shown at the Elite theatre, Saturday and Sunday, the million and more readers of the Ladies' Home Journal will find the screen adaptation of "Miracle," Clarence Buddington Kelland's famous story which ran as a serial in that

HINTS FOR WOMEN

More important to women than the question of food, the latest fancy work to beautify the home or points in etiquette or dress, is the subject of health. There are thousands of women everywhere affected with stubborn ailments which make life a burden. These ailments may be easily overcome by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It is a woman's medicine for woman's ills prepared from roots and herbs. After three generations of success it is recognized as the standard remedy for such ailments.

The CALENDAR OF DINNERS

A new source of daily cooking help

Contents

365 complete dinner menus—one for each day of the year. A daily answer to the daily puzzle, "What shall we have for dinner to-night?" Practical suggestions for judging, choosing and cooking meats, fish, fowl and game. "Time-table" showing just how long to cook various classes of foods together with a complete and modern table of measurements. Unusual and unusually helpful ideas about cake-making and pie-baking. Special sections on Soups, Vegetables, Candies, Salads, Puddings, Breads, Eggs, Vegetarian dishes and the Art of Carving. 231 pages of practical culinary information handsomely bound in blue cloth and printed on fine coated paper. Of this cook book, written by Marion Harris Neil, formerly cooking editor of the Ladies' Home Journal, a prominent New York publisher said: "Such a book would cost at least $1.00 in the average book store." But you will find below a simple way to get it for 10c.

How to get this $1.00 Cook Book for 10c

(Special Offer for one week)

HERE is a really unusual opportunity. We wish every housekeeper in this city to use a can of Crisco; to discover for herself through actual test the ten outstanding virtues of Crisco (listed below).

So in cooperation with your grocer we are making an offer by which you can save 90c.

How you Save 90c

During the coming week we will give you, for 10c, an unusual cook book with a minimum value of $1.00—provided you accompany that 10c with a wrapper from a can of Crisco.

Does any shortening, besides CRISCO, possess these 10 virtues?

- 1 Crisco is a pure vegetable shortening—not an animal fat. Crisco is made from the pure sweet oils of growing plants.
- 2 Crisco delightfully answers every shortening and frying purpose: For Cake-making, Shortening, Frying.
- 3 Crisco gives perfectly delicious results. Crisco cakes are light and tender and stay fresh longer. Crisco fried foods are crisp outside and tender and fine-flavored inside. Crisco pie crusts and pastry are deliciously brown and flaky.
- 4 Crisco needs no refrigeration. It keeps sweet and fresh indefinitely without ice-box help.
- 5 Crisco is very digestible. (Food authorities say that an easily digested fat should melt near body heat—98° degrees. Crisco melts even below this temperature.)
- 6 Crisco helps to secure uniform cooking results, for Crisco itself is absolutely uniform. Crisco never varies—it is the same to-day, to-morrow and a year from to-day.
- 7 In frying with Crisco you avoid smoke and unpleasant odors. Crisco never publishes, to living room callers, intimate news of kitchen activities.
- 8 In frying, Crisco is but little absorbed by foods. Crisco makes fried foods with a crisp, brown outside and a tender, digestible inside.
- 9 After frying with Crisco you can strain it and use it again and again. You can fry fish, then onions, then potatoes in Crisco and the potatoes will not even hint of the onion.
- 10 In all kinds of cooking Crisco lets the fine full flavor of the ingredients come out—undisguised by the flavor of the shortening itself.

This cook book consists of 231 pages of cooking and serving information—the sort of information that will give really practical daily help to even an experienced cook. Prepared by Marion Harris Neil, formerly cooking editor of the Ladies' Home Journal, it contains also 615 tested recipes.

In "A Calendar of Dinners" Mrs. Neil approaches the housekeeper's daily problem of "what for dinner" from a fresh, sympathetic viewpoint.

Her cook book will save you a great deal of time and worry when you are puzzled over the menu for a dinner.

For it contains a special dinner menu for every day in the year and gives recipes for a great many of the dishes mentioned in these menus.

An outstanding point about these recipes is this: They are prepared with special reference to digestibility. They will be peculiarly welcome to every thoughtful wife and mother who keeps a careful eye on the healthfulness of her family's foods.

The simple way to secure this cook book

To secure for 10c the $1.00 cook book shown above is a very simple and easy matter. This is all you need to do:

1. Buy a can of Crisco from your grocer.
2. Clip the coupon in the lower right-hand corner of this page and carefully fill in your name and address.
3. Remove the outside wrapper of your can of Crisco, attach the coupon to it and bring or mail both the coupon and the wrapper to the POST-CRESCENT, Appleton, Wisconsin. Enclose or bring 10c in stamps or coin.

Special Crisco Week at your grocer's

During the coming week you will see Crisco prominently displayed in your grocer's store. He will invite you to buy a can. If you order by telephone he will mention Crisco especially. His reasons are two-fold and both are reasons of service to you:

1. Wanting to do you a service beyond the mere filling of your daily order, your grocer will urge you to buy a can of Crisco this week because he will thus help you to secure for 10c a cook book valued at $1.00 at least.

2. As a progressive modern merchant your grocer naturally prefers to sell you the most practical and wholesome food ingredients. He would rather sell you a shortening which you can use for every cake-making, every shortening and every frying purpose than one whose usefulness is limited. When he sells you Crisco he knows that he is selling you a shortening which alone delightfully answers every shortening purpose; a wholesome shortening made from the pure sweet oils of growing plants.

GAS BILL MAIN GRIST OF 1925 STATE LAW MILL

Legislature Also Passes Home Rule Enactment and Re- vises Income Tax would have been made on a basis of individual school needs instead of the scholastic census was defeated.

TAXATION
Income tax revision was marked by one of the hardest fought contests of the session. The personal property offset was repealed. Individual exemptions were increased and the revenues reapportioned among the state and local units.

The $500 homestead exemption, enacted two years ago, was repealed. A tax of two cents on a gallon was placed on gasoline.

Property owned and used exclusively by labor organizations was exempted from taxation.

The tax fight was followed by the adoption of a plan for an interim committee which will investigate the subject and recommend legislation at the next session. The same committee also will investigate and report on the question of departmental consolidation.

The legislature passed a bill correcting administrative features of the income tax law and making repeal of the personal property offset retroactive to cover the year 1924.

AIRCRAFT
Wisconsin's first law regarding aircraft was enacted during this session. It provides a penalty against low flying over crowds and cities and prohibits the dropping of articles other than ballast from such craft while flying over municipalities.

OLEOMARGARINE
The first law in the country prohibiting the mixing of milk and milk fats with vegetable oil or animal fats in imitation of butter or the manufacture and sale of such products with the intent to give them the texture and flavor of butter was the result of efforts of Assemblyman E. B. Miller who had the support of butter manufacturing associations, the state department of agriculture and other agencies.

JUDICIARY
Three additional circuit judgeships were created. Two were annexed to the second judicial district (Milwaukee).

Attempts were made to raise the salaries of justices of the supreme court, but each failed. Circuit court judges failed to receive an increase in salary from $6,500 to $7,500, but a bill became law without the signature of Governor Blaine permitting counties to add to the state salaries of judges.

INSURANCE
By resolution adopted, the American Federation of Labor was invited to engage in the fraternal insurance business in Wisconsin. An attempt to revive the state insurance code was defeated after a stormy fight in the legislature lasting more than half the session. This was a measure which brought on an investigation of the activities of Attorney General Ekern in insurance legislation.

BOVINE TUBERCULOSIS
A plan for the expenditure of $750,000 annually for the next two years for bovine tuberculosis eradication was adopted in connection with the biennial appropriation for the state department of agriculture. A large farm bloc in the legislature was in favor of increasing the amount to $1,075,000 annually but the attempt failed in the assembly.

COMMISSIONS
A new state commission came into being during the 1925 session in the guise of a state board of examiners in the basic sciences, and three members were named by Governor Blaine.

During the session resolutions were offered to list all employees in state government together with their salaries in the 1925 Wisconsin Blue Book but failed to receive an appropriation after adoption.

Attempts to consolidate and coordinate many of the overlapping boards, commissions and bureaus of state government likewise failed, an did an attempt to throw the state department of markets, the livestock sanitary board, the state dairy and food commission and other minor departments of agricultural work under the jurisdiction of the state department of agriculture. Reorganization of the department of agriculture with control in the legislature and a state board of agriculture made no headway.

ROBBING LAW
State barbers had their innings in their fight with beauty parlors when a law was enacted extending their activities under state regulation of examination and license.

BUS REGULATION
Two bills regulating the bus transportation business in Wisconsin and placing the matter of licenses and control in the state railroad commission were passed up to the governor for his approval. The first was vetoed and the second, an administration measure, received the executive approval. Under the law, bus lines become common carriers under similar regulations as other carriers.

BANK TAXATION
A bill which would have taxed the income of banks instead of the capital stock failed to receive the approval of Governor Blaine who based his veto on a state supreme court decision in the case of the City of Hartford vs. the First National Bank of Hartford, in which the constitutionality of the state law taxing capital stock was upheld and on the premise that taxation of income of banks would reduce the tax revenue from approximately $2,000,000 to $380,000 annually.

Two attempts to change the state eugenic marriage law so as to extend the provisions of the statutes to include physical examination for women failed in the assembly.

Three bills contemplating an increase in state revenue of approximately $2,000,000 for common school fund purposes raised through the medium of a tax on cigarettes, failed. Each of the three bills, one of which originated in the assembly, were killed in the senate.

HIGHWAY COMMISSION
The Blaine administration made three distinct attempts to change the method of selecting members of the state highway commission during the session, but the legislature by a heavy majority vote refused to enter into any such scheme because of an expressed sentiment of citizens that intrusions of the measures was prompted because of a personal quarrel between the governor and two members of the present commission.

The Wisconsin legislature continued successfully to ward off state ownership legislation. The session was productive of bills seeking the establishment and operation of state owned printing and cement plants, neither one reaching the governor. Scattering attempts to enact laws for county-operated public utilities and elevators did not become law.

Dual job holding by members of the state legislature was severely scored in debates in assembly and senate. While four measures were advanced to prevent legislators from holding other state positions for which compensation is paid, none of them received the support of the administration and were defeated.

HOME RULE
An enabling act to carry the home rule amendment approved by the people at the polls in the last general election was passed and approved.

A measure allowing the people to initiate laws at the polls and approve or reject acts of the legislature obtained passage in the assembly.

upper Mississippi pollution from sewage, St. Paul and Minneapolis. The committee is expected to meet this summer to arrive at ways and means of mitigating the damage resultant from pollution.

Creation of a 32,000 acre state park in Vilas was voted by the legislature.

Permission to allow the federal government to buy, lease or otherwise acquire lands not to exceed 100,000 acres in extent in Wisconsin for the purpose of establishing national forest parks, was granted.

The legislature gave its approval to a government plan of establishing a wild life and game refuge in bottom lands of the upper Mississippi river. Blanket laws covering new open and closed seasons for fish and game were enacted.

The bill maintaining the deer hunting limit of one buck, but fixing the open season at Dec. 1 to Dec. 10, was passed and is in the governor's hands.

FORESTRY
An interim committee was appointed to study forestry under the provisions of an amendment to the state constitution approved by the people of the state at the polls in the last general election. A report will be made to the 1927 legislature.

Pulpwood inspection by the state and the commission which supervised it were abolished in a repeal bill passed by the legislature. This was a result of a recommendation by Governor Blaine in his first passage to the legislature.

LIQUOR LEGISLATION
Defenders of the Seeverson state dry law successfully resisted all attempts to effect modification and repeal during the session, and legislation resulted only in the passage of a bill that would allow druggists holding liquor permits to operate and maintain counters, bars, booths and stalls for the dispensing of soda and non-intoxicating beverages.

The legislature adopted a resolution providing a referendum of the people at the next general election on the question of urging congress to enact legislation favoring the modification of the eighteenth amendment so as to permit the manufacture, sale and distribution of 2.75 per cent alcoholic content beer. A resolution asking congress to call a constitutional convention to repeal the Volstead act failed of legislative approval as did several bills to repeal or modify the Seeverson act. The legislature showed a large gain in wet sentiment.

CONSERVATION
A compromise administration bill appropriating all of the moneys earned by the state conservation commission to the commission for the purposes of conservation passed, the legislature and received executive approval. A provision of the compromise measure stated that should there be any unallotted surplus in excess of $50,000 in any one year, the surplus shall go toward payment of interest and principal on land investment. More than $600,000 annually is devoted to conservation under the bill.

A legislative committee was appointed to confer with a legislative committee of Minnesota regarding the American Legion for the purchase of a camp on state land between Tomahawk and Big Carr lakes Blaine.

WISCONSIN INDIANS
The legislature instructed Attorney General Herman L. Ekern and Governor Blaine to investigate the condition of Wisconsin Indians with the view of protecting their rights in a pending law suit for trespass against logging companies. Since claims in that suit amount to several million dollars the interest of the state is largely concerned with recovery, so that the Indians, reported indigent circumstances, may not become public charges of the state.

A resolution was passed asking congress to authorize the expenditure of money, which it appropriates for medical care and education of Indians, through state departments having greater facilities for such distribution because of personal contact.

The senate non-concurred in an assembly resolution which would have authorized Attorney General Ekern to determine the extent of damage to Horicon marsh by reason of its drainage. The resolution was introduced for the purpose of starting a suit to recover damage.

INVESTIGATIONS
After an inquiry by a special senatorial committee, Attorney General Herman L. Ekern was cleared of charges of lobbying against the insurance code revision bill and other improper practices. The investigation resulted from letters written by W. Stanley Smith, state insurance commissioner, criticizing the attorney general.

The special committee investigating charges of graft and other irregularities in state service, made by Senatorial committee, found that the charges were unfounded. Appointed by the governor, after inspecting all state charitable and penal institutions, found them to be in excellent condition. Two institutions, the Northern Wisconsin colony and training school at Chippewa Falls, and the Women's Industrial home at Taycheedah, were made subjects of special investigations resulting in the clearing of heads of the institutions of any criticism. The committee recommended that the state board of control decline to accept the resignation of Dr. Ebba Dederer, superintendent at Taycheedah.

Miscellaneous bills which have been enacted include measures permitting outdoor boxing contests, authorizing transfer of $50,000 from the state soldiers' rehabilitation fund to

STEPPED ON GAS TO EVADE HOLDUP

McKinzie Skenandore Is Accosted by Trio While on Night Trip

Neenah—McKinzie Skenandore, first-st. reported to police headquarters Friday morning, that an attempt was made Wednesday night to hold him up by three men on the road between Mackville and Seymour.

Mr. Skenandore was returning from Seymour, he states, at about 11 o'clock in the evening. When a few miles south of Seymour a man stepped out into the road and attempted to flag him into stopping. He stated that he wanted to slow up thinking that the man wanted a ride to the next place. Just as he was about to do so two other men stepped out from each side of the road and joined the first one.

Mr. Skenandore by this time realized that it might be an attempt to hold him up and relieve him of a little sum of money he was carrying, so started ahead at high speed leaving the men behind in the road.

Arrange Tennis Match

Neenah—Three first tennis teams of Doty Island Tennis club will meet three teams of the Oshkosh tennis club Saturday afternoon in this city. With the first teams of Oshkosh will come four of the second teams to play as many of the second string players of the local club.

500 REHEARSE FOR PAGEANT

Pythian Spectacle to Be Representation of Modern Neenah

Neenah—Plans for staging "Kar-A-Ban," the pageant to be given in Riverside park on evenings of July 7 and 8 by Knights of Pythias are well under way. Two experienced directors are coaching 500 young people. The directors are cooperating with a local committee consisting of E. C. McMurchie, Harold Christoph and A. H. Angermeyer, with Kai Madson as chairman.

A young ladies' popularity contest is being held in connection with the production with names of Neenah, Menasha, Appleton and Oshkosh young ladies as nominees for queen of the pageant.

"Kar-A-Ban" differs from other pageants in that it depicts the present day in Neenah rather than the historical past. Local industries and business establishments are represented in dances and pantomime; twenty dance numbers being presented to King Kar-A-Ban and his court during the entertainment.

The pageant will begin at 8:30 each evening because of unique lighting effects which will be more effective after that hour. Tickets are now being offered for sale by members of Knights of Pythias.

MEN ARREST EACH OTHER IN FIGHT; BOTH FINED

Neenah—Edward Malout was fined $1 and costs on a charge of assault and battery and Ernest Ehrigott, $2 and costs on a charge of using abusive language Friday morning in Justice O. B. Baldwin's court. The case was the outcome of an automobile deal between the two men, in which Ehrigott bought a car on installment plan and gave an old car as part payment. Malout claimed the car was not paid for on time and seized the machine. This brought the two together in an altercation resulting in their arrest, each swearing out a warrant for the other. Michael Malout, arrested in the same affair on a charge of using abusive language, was allowed to go free.

215 DOLLS ENTERED IN DRESSING CONTEST

Neenah—Two hundred and fifteen small dolls attired as brides, have been placed in Anspach store window as entries in the doll dressing contest which has been conducted by the management of that establishment. The dolls were to be dressed by girls between the ages of five and twelve years, the first twelve to be awarded prizes in rotation according to decision of judges. Each girl entering a doll in the contest was also presented with a handkerchief.

Of course, you know the famous Valspar boiling-water test showing a man pouring boiling water on a Valsparred table top. That's a ruinous test for ordinary varnishes—but not for Valspar. For this remarkable varnish undergoes tests of far greater severity in every day use.

Valspar Varnish-Stains are Valspar Varnish plus the finest transparent stains. Anyone can apply them—you Valspar and stain at one stroke of the brush, bringing out the full beauty of the grain in the wood. Use them on wood-work of all kinds indoors and out where a colored varnish is desired.

There's Nothing More Natty Than a Hand-Made Straw

Age is obliterated in the straw-hat season. Old boys and undergraduates wear practically the same models. The only really becoming hat to some men is a straw.

There's an air of distinction about a Bonar-Phelps hand-made straw that differentiates it at once from other hats.

There's a comfort in its fit that no machinery can give; a lastingness in its fine lines that makes it more economical to buy than many hats of half its cost; a satisfaction in the knowledge that one is wearing the finest straw of its kind that can be built.

START WORK SOON ON FIELD HOUSE AT GRID FIELD

Accommodations Will Be Provided for 250 Athletes in Lawrence Lockerhouse

Preliminary plans recently completed by Smith and Brandt architects for the field house to be erected on the new Lawrence college athletic field in the Fourth ward have been approved and as soon as the final plans have been drawn construction will begin. The field house will be two stories high and built of brick. It will be situated on the northeast corner of the field now almost completed on the table land and will have locked space for 250 athletes.

There will be a hot air heating plant, with hot and cold water, and at least twelve showers. The field house will be modern in every respect.

Bleachers have been ordered to seat 7,000, and the steel cyclone fence which will be erected around the field is expected here this week. This fence will be eight feet high and a half mile in length. Parking space will be provided within the enclosure.

The Bermuda grass planted on the football field already has been mowed several times, and the turf will be in excellent condition at the beginning of the next school term. The first course of cinders has been laid on the track.

A concrete bridge, 11 feet high, has been erected across the ravine from John-st to the hilltop, and the north approach is being graded so there will be the least possible incline leading to the field.

Twenty-three ocean vessels can be loaded simultaneously with grain at the rate of 450,000 bushels an hour at the port of Montreal. At the same time grain can be unloaded at the rate of 150,000 bushels an hour.

BAYFIELD PREPARES FOR ANNUAL INDIAN PAGEANT

Officials of the 1925 Indian pageant of the Apostle islands met at Bayfield recently to make preliminary arrangements for the second annual presentation of the exhibition. The classic will be presented from Aug. 2 to 16, in a natural amphitheater around the bend of the Chequamegon river four miles north of Bayfield, surrounded by majestic pines and forming a perfect setting for the graphic story of the Red Men.

The pageant depicts the struggles of a vanishing race from the early days before the white man came to the present. The Indian actors, from the Red Cliff and Odanah reservations, reenact their tribal history, their dances, ceremonies, councils and peace pipes with their white brothers, who first came to them in the early part of the seventeenth century as missionaries and fur traders.

There are folk tales never set upon paper, traditions of the Ojibway that once lived only in the mouths of the ancients of the tribe, but which now are perpetuated in the pageant.

O. A. Reetz is director of the 1925 pageant, Theodore Steinhilber musical director and Victor Fay general manager.

BURY AERIAL TO AVOID STATIC

Buried Antenna Gives Same Signal Strength and Cuts Out Disturbance

Every radio fan knows that a long outside antenna pick up more static than any other. Hence many are experimenting in an effort to improve this condition.

Some are tying loops and others are putting single-wire aeriols indoors in attic and in cellars.

All of them cut down signal strength proportionately with static, except in the case of loops, which usually are employed in connection with several stages of radio-frequency amplification.

Few, however, have ventured to experiment with underground antennas. Recent publicity on this subject has made of it something of a mystery, though the theory is almost as old as radio.

USED BY ARMY

It was used successfully by the U. S. army during the World War, having been found to give the greatest ratio between signal and static, favorable to the former. This means, that in comparison with the overhead antenna, the underground system will receive nearly the same signal strength, but little static, the ratio being 10 to 1 in favor of the buried aerial.

Try this type of antenna with your own receiving equipment. Use a special piece of No. 14 rubber covered wire, such as is found in house wiring. The end to be put furthest from the house is stuck in the open end of a shotgun shell or can, and the shell filled with sealing wax to keep the wire from corroding after contact with damp earth.

BURIED A FOOT DEEP

The antenna wire is buried one foot under ground, the end that is to be used as a lead-in being brought to the surface directly beneath the window, near which the set is located.

A piece of lead tubing is slipped over the lead-in, completely shielding

JUDGE SEEKS HOME FOR WIDOWER AND CHILDREN

Judge F. V. Heinemann is looking for a home for a man and his two sons of two and six years. Recently this man asked the Judge to send the two tots to a home finding institution, on the grounds that he was unable to support them on his wage of from $80 to $100 per month. The man was completely demoralized by his battle for existence.

The Judge refused to accede to the it from the antenna binding post of the set to a point just beneath the ground. This shield is grounded to the waterpipe, like the ground wire proper.

This keeps the exposed part of the antenna from picking up energy from the air. As an extra precaution, shield the regular ground wire in a lead tube, though you doubtless will find this unnecessary.

This underground antenna will be found to be practically nondirectional, signals from all parts of the country coming in better than on the outdoor aerial in summer months.

DRUNKEN DRIVER PAYS FINE OF $50

Miles Mortenson, Iola, Who Wrecked Auto at Waupaca,
Is Given Penalty

Special to Post-Crescent
Waupaca—Miles Mortenson of Iola, whose automobile turned turtle on Church-st. Sunday evening, June 14, pleaded guilty to the charge of driving while intoxicated when he appeared in court before Justice Peter Holst. Mr. Mortenson was fined $50 with cost amounting to $5.

Doerfer and Nussbaum, who operate the Waupaca-Wisconsin Veterans Home bus line will add another bus on July 4, making two carriers on this line which is to be extended to the new Indian Crossing casino. The schedule is to be arranged so as to give continuous service daily until midnight.

A July 4 celebration under auspices of the Modern Woodmen and Royal Neighbors will be held at Striker grove (formerly the Lottis grove) in Lanark. George R. Parkhill of Madison, will be speaker of the day. Contests including a tug-of-war between Blain and Lanark are to feature the celebration. A baseball game at 3 o'clock between Krenn-wetter of Mosinee and Lanark has been scheduled. Batteries for Mosinee are Hintz and Flatau; for Lanark, Veller, Hovsen and Shepard. The general public is invited to attend.

The American legion drive for funds is now on in Waupaca. The entire city is being solicited house to house. Local officers of the legion requested that all merchants display curb flags during the drive. The money goes to the national endowment fund for a home for orphaned children of veterans.

Seth Ballard's Lone Pine boy scouts meet the Portageville baseball team in a game at Stewart field, Waupaca, Friday afternoon. The troop is perfecting plans for a July 4 celebration to be held at Pine lake at which it expects the Weyauwega and Crystal Lake troops to be present.
Nate Cohen, formerly proprietor of the Fair store of this city was calling on friends Thursday. Mr. Cohen has been a resident of Milwaukee since leaving here.

The ideal milk is produced by a healthy animal. What is a healthy animal? Is there such a thing? Certainly there are few human beings who are perfectly free from any and all diseases year after year. And so it is with cattle. It is true the watchful and intelligent owner can do much to guard the healthfulness of the milk of his herd, but it is not possible for him to safeguard it to the extent which we now believe desirable. It is perfectly true that, if no expense were spared, a reasonably safe milk can be produced. But no matter how careful the farmer, how conscientious the milk distributor, the mixed raw milk of a number of herds can never be considered as safe milk. No matter what any one may say, it is not possible to have any great number of animals in our milk producing districts absolutely free from tuberculosis or from udder troubles, nor is it possible to be certain that all persons engaged in producing and handling the milk are free from all diseases which the milk may serve to carry. Pasteurization comes to our aid again in solving the sanitary problems which milk presents. This part of an article written by no less an authority than a Professor of Agricultural Bacteriology, should convince the most skeptical persons, that raw milk of whatever nature is not a safe milk. Therefore, use our "Contamo-Tested Pasteurized" Milk, and be safe on the milk question.

Yours very truly,

Tell Me Yes, Tell Me No—Fox Trot ... Jack Shillkret's Orchestra

Beautiful, elastic rhythmic, many-colored fox trots to bring skill to the toes, and delight to the heart, of the ballroom dancer. "If You Knew Susie" has a vocal refrain and some kiss effects, with instrumental variations toward the close. "Tell Me Yes" is a smooth, half-fluid type of dance, of the sort that makes you feel like a stage tangoist—though of course it's a regular fox trot. The sax crows a bit in the finale.

The familiar "Andantino" which nearly every one has heard played on the organ is so melodious that it was only a question of time until words should be set to it. And to whom other than McCormack could this lovely melody be entrusted with more assurance of artistic performance? "Moonlight and Roses" are the theme of McCormack's song, given with all the clarity of diction, beauty of phrasing and vocal tone we expect of this artist. In "The Sweetest Call" there is a touch of wistfulness, yet the melody is bright and the sentiment appealing—and the inevitable McCormack touch is there.

COVELESKIE WINS EIGHTH GAME FOR SENATORS

Harris' Wit In Picking Vets Keeps World Champs In Race For A. L. Title

Pirates Cop from Cardinals to Gain on First-place Giants, Halted by Rain

By Associated Press
New York—"Buck" Harris, youth ful plot of the world champion Senators has once more triumphed in a battle of wits in surrounding himself with seasoned players while other managers are chasing young recruits.

Believing that the veteran spitballer Stanley Coveleskie was nearly finished as far as major league ball was concerned, Tris speaker traded him at the close of last season to the Washington team. Friday the Indians mogul has ample opportunity for post-mortem regrets.

"Covey" Thursday marked up his eighth victory out of nine since this season allowing the Yankees but four hits while the Senators were winning, 1 to 0. It gave the champions the series, two out of three games, and counted as their tenth triumph out of 15 games played with New York this season.

Detroit finally broke into the first division in the American League by gaining a 3 to 2 verdict over the Browns. Tris Cobb leading the attack with a circuit drive in the first inning.

The Red Sox faltered before the Athletics 3 to 2, giving the Mackmen a clean sweep in the three game series. Bill Lamar hit safely for his 25th consecutive contest.

Rain postponed the first engagement between the White Sox and the Indians but the last half of the scheduled double header was concluded with Chicago on the long end of a 7 to 2 count.

Downpour at New York and Boston forced the postponement of National League games and the only other scheduled for the day was at St. Louis which, the Pirates tucked away to the tune of 4 to 3. Thursday's results.

BORCHERT SIGNS TWO FORMER BIG LEAGUERS

Milwaukee—Ralph Miller, utility infielder with Washington last year, and Taylor Douthitt, who played fifty games in the outfield for the St. Louis Cardinals in 1924 have been signed by President Otto Borchert and will join the Brewers at once.

Miller has been playing professional ball since 1916, except for the period of the world war, when he was in military service. After a short period in the "sticks" on his return, he was signed by the Phillies, being with that club part of 1919 and all of 1920 and 1921. He was sent to San Francisco in 1922 and in 1923 played with Reading, in the International league, from which club he was purchased by Washington in the fall of 1923. Last year he was with the Senators throughout the season. Miller participated in three world series games last fall.

Douthitt was with the Cardinals last year and played, as noted above, in fifty-three games. He batted .277 and made an exceptional fielding record, being charged with but three errors in fifty games. He bats and throws right handed.

GORMAN WORKING HARD FOR STRIB

Experts Pick Bud to Beat Georgian; May Box Gene Tunney if Victorious

Kenosha—Bud Gorman, Kenosha heavyweight, who styles himself the Irish-American contender for the world's heavyweight championship is getting in shape for his fight with Young Stribling at the Empire A. C. in Detroit, June 23. The bout is scheduled at ten rounds. According to Harry Neary, Gorman's latest manager, the fight experts in New York all pick Bud to defeat the Georgia Cracker. If Gorman gets the victory over the school boy ring marvel he is going after a bout with Gene Tunney, the recent conqueror of Tommy Gibbons.

Gorman feels he can outpoint Tunney as he has had several workouts with him and in the sparring bouts he make a favorable showing.

The record sent out by Neary for Gorman includes wins over Bob Roper, Young Bob Fitzsimmons, Sailor Maxied, Frank Farmer, Harry Drake, Jack DeMave, Billy Shide, Joe Lohman, Ted Jamieson, Eddie McGroarty, Jack Moran, Ned Carpenter, Jack Ward, Homer Smith, Jack McDonald and a knockout over Dan Bright in six rounds.

GUN CLUB TO HOLD PRACTICE SHOOT

Last Saturday 23 shooters took part in a practice workout and some fine marks were hung up. The winner, C. W. Stibler, broke 14 out of 150 targets and averaged 90 percent for the afternoon.

Gay Dogs Of Ring To Get Real Tests On July 2 Card

BY JOE WILLIAMS
New York—Charlie Weinert fights Harry Wills here July 2.

On the same card Harry Greb risks his middleweight title to a decision against Mickey Walker.

The reform element of the country will watch the outcome of these bouts with passionate interest.

Weinert used to be one of the gay dogs of the ring. A year or so ago he accepted the terrible consequences of a complete reformation, inspired by the philosophy that it is never too late to prepare for a halo.

Greb moved on to take Weinert's place as the perpetual midnight thrill in the white light districts of the land, operating on the notion that if life is worth living at all it is worth living not only and robustly.

Billy McCarney is the present manager of Weinert, and Billy thinks his man will outpoint Wills. Billy tells us Weinert was never as gay as he was painted and for that reason is still much better physically than most people think.

"Weinert used to drink and step around and all that," admits McCarney, "but he was not half as bad as he pretended."

Weinert, according to his new manager, delighted to pose as a gay boulevardier and a fabulous man about town. When he opened a bottle of wine he wanted the world to hear the cork pop, when he stepped out he wanted the world to line up along the curb and watch him strut.

"It was things like that that gave Weinert the reputation he has," says McCarney. "This is at least, a new slant on the Newark Adonis. It may be true."

Greb seems to have no such campaign, and besides there are so many points of civic and cultural interest to see after the midnight bells have tolled.

Greb is the physical marvel of his time. Rarely ever in training, yet he always operates at top speed and is seldom on the losing end.

Last fall he was matched with Tiger Flowers at Fremont. O. The fight world admitted this match would test the champion's skill to the utmost. A few predicted the hard hitting negro would knock him out.

No one was less disturbed at the prospects of defeat than Greb. Instead of training he went "party-line." Even the promoters were alarmed. They weren't quite sure he'd be there for the battle. But he was and Flowers did it hard against him.

It's hard to figure a freak like Greb. By all the laws of nature and the ring he should have been knocked over long before this. Maybe Walker will do it in July. And again maybe he won't.

BELLES ARE HARD LUCK SQUAD IN E. W. BALL LOOP

Campbellsport Outfit Three Leading League Teams but Lost One-point Games

Fond du Lac—Campbellsport appears to be the real hard luck team of the Eastern Wisconsin league, but the village fans are not kicking as long as they see such fine baseball. The records show that Plymouth beat the Belles at the start of the season, 2 to 1. Then Appleton gave them a 1 to 0 beating, and Fond du Lac downed the village outfit last Sunday 4 to 0. In all of these games Campbellsport outfit their opponents, but got none of the breaks.

C. Vande Zande made four wonderful catches for Campbellsport in left field on Sunday against Fondy. Strong, the Fondy pitcher, led the league hurlers in strikeouts on Sunday by fanning 12. Flood of Plymouth and Noel of Oshkosh each whiffed 10.

Plymouth knocked Appleton out of second place last Sunday by winning a 5 to 0 game. Appleton hopes to get back into second again Sunday as the same two teams play at Plymouth. C. Tarnow, second baseman for the Papermakers, is playing fine ball. In addition to fielding perfectly he is clouting the ball hard. He got two of Appleton's four hits off Flood on Sunday.

Jimmy Peebles of Plymouth, the man who hit the home run over the fence at Ruppert park two weeks ago is among the leading hitters of the league. He knocked out three safeties in four times up at Appleton.

Last week's games drew record attendance figures in the towns where they were played and even greater crowds are expected this Sunday. Oshkosh plays at Fond du Lac, Campbellsport at Chilton and Appleton at Plymouth.

VALLEY CITIES START HORSESHOE PITCHING

Oshkosh—Horseshoe pitching as the intensely competitive sport is the newest development in Fox river valley sporting events. Tuesday evening a Fond du Lac challenger was beaten by William Pauk at Roe park. The Oshkosh man taking four out of six games.

Glenn Glasgow, manager of Ideal Baker Horseshoe league, was the writer of the challenge. In a letter addressed to Carl Boeder he asked his best bet, William Wagner, be given an opportunity with the Oshkosh champ for the title of two counties. Winnebago and Fond du Lac. At the same time he asked that the loser be given the privilege of a return match.

With Appleton at work organizing a team Fox river valley championship may be held this summer to determine the 1925 title. The city meet is booked for Saturday on the "T" courts and a squad to represent this city probably will be picked from this tourney.

Watertown, Ia.—Frankie Kral, Milwaukee, won a newspaper decision over Freeman Pepper, Sioux City, in ten rounds.

HUBBARD'S MARK LOOKS SAFE

BY ART CARLSON
How long will Dehart, Hubbard's record-breaking leap of 25 feet 10 3/4 inches stand? Will it ever be bettered? Obviously, each question begs a reply. Time alone only can tell.

As we scan the sportive horizon, however, we can discern no performer looming up from across the far stretches who appears capable of excelling Hubbard's hop.

At least not as far as the naked optic can see, unless it be the colored lad himself.

Not many paces back, Steve Farrell, Michigan coach, predicted Hubbard would some day reach the 26-foot figure. The dark-skinned boy all but did that the other day. Whether he actually can turn the feat is a matter of conjecture. He may. And then again he may not.

Twenty-five summers ago, Patrick O'Connor of Ireland startled the sporting element by clearing 24 feet 11 1/2 inches. That effort would stand a long and continuous assault, opined the experts. And it did.

For not until 1921 was it wiped off the books. Then Ned Gourdin, a colored chap, leaped 25 feet, 2 inches while competing for Johnny Harvard in the Yale-Harvard dual with Oxford-Cambridge. Again, the athletic assemblage saw an all-time record.

But Gourdin's reign was soon halted. For in 1924 Bob Legendre, former Georgetown star, jumped through 25 feet 6 3/4 inches of space at the Olympic outing.

Now along comes Hubbard with his wonderful performance at Chicago. Hubbard's athletic career reads like fiction. Ever since enrolling at Michigan his pet ambition had been to smash the broad jump record.

For three seasons he had been trying, at one time coming within an inch of Gourdin's mark, only to have Legendre step out and tack on a few additional inches.

Time and again Hubbard got over the 25-foot figure, once clearing "25 5/4," only to have it disallowed because of a foul.

In the recent Big Ten meet at Columbus he jumped 25 feet 3 1/2 inches, a new Western Conference and collegiate record. But he was still short of Legendre's mark.

An then—in his very final jump as a college athlete, Hubbard accomplished that which he had been striving to do for several seasons—hang up a better performance than any other athlete in history.

It was a climax such as you usually only read about in books. And it was indeed a fitting finish to one of the most illustrious careers in collegiate annals. It was the tenth time he'd leaped 25 feet or over.

Mayhap in future years some new sensation will turn up to shove Hubbard's record into oblivion.

But one thing can't be taken away from the ebony-hued twinkler from Cincinnati. And that is the realizing of the greatest ambition in his athletic career—surpassing the world broad jumping record.

Regarding the present figure, kindly bear this in mind—that during the past 25 years just 11 1/2 inches have been added to the broad jump mark hung up by Pat O'Connor back in 1900. And all within the past five seasons.

During that quarter of a century stretch the world has produced some stellar leapers. But not until Gourdin, Legendre and Hubbard came along was the 25-foot figure reached.

Now the objective is another 12 inches further, with Hubbard the only present competitor standing a fair chance to reach the goal.

Beyer Sentinels Meet Strong Stiller Squad In Home Game On Sunday

Leo Thein, Kimberly Star, Added to Local Lineup for Tilt With Green Bay Crew

With the signing of the Stiller baseball team of Green Bay as its opponent for Sunday, the Beyer Sentinels of this city have a real battle on tap. The game will be played at Brandt park. A large crowd of local fans is expected to see the local crew in action on the home field as the Fox River crew plays at Plymouth.

The Stiller squad is one of the strong independent teams of the Bay city. It has chalked up several victories over good squads this year and expects to lengthen its record at the expense of the Appleton team. Manager John "Jake" Zussman announces the signing of two new men to bolster his squad, one of whom is Leo Thein. Thein is one of the best semi-pro players in the valley and has been playing with combined locks and Kimberly Clark Paper Co. this year. His addition will strengthen the local infield, though where he will be placed is still a problem.

Weinbauff, Lawrence college, twirler, or Bernhard of Appleton Creek, will take the mound for the locals with Stegeman and Vanderloop, an infielder in reserve. Ashman will hold down the job behind the loc. A speedy infield with Thein added will face the Stiller crew. Capt. Phillips probably will handle the shortstop

LIONS BEATEN IN SCRUB GAME, 6-5

Pickups from Both Loops Give Losers Real Practice When Rotary Stays Home

Jones park was the scene of a real ball game Thursday afternoon and it wasn't a Lark League game either. The Rotarians, scheduled to meet the Lion crew, failed to arrive and a team composed of players of both the Lark and Twilight loops mixed with the Lions in a practice tilt. The "scrubs" gave the Jungle Kings the kind of practice they needed and emerged on the long end of a 6-5 score. The game was almost errorless on both sides and in over half of the innings both teams went down in 1-2-3 order, making it a real tilt after all. Another feature of the game was the lack of crabbing at the umpire. John Hantschel of the courthouse gang, called "em well, often referring to one of the teams as "apparently his decision. His refusal to allow one team to have more than two runners on the sacks at one time unless that team was far behind also made the game interesting. Ashman of the winners, the only man to get into the run column more than once, was the star of the tilt. Teams represented on the losers were, Y. M. C. A. Meyer Press, Post-Crescent, Legion, Kiwanis and "miscellaneous."

The "scrubs" scored once in the first frame and again in the second and the Lions scored in the second. With the score 2-1 the game went along nicely until the seventh when the scrubs stepped over the pan four times. The Lions got one in the eighth and three in the ninth. The last Lion was tossed out with the tying run on third base. Lineups were:

Lions—Connelly, Schneider, Barlow, Don Frawley, W. Frawley, Engel, Saecker, Lameier, Potter and Lamier. Scrubs—Ashman, Reider, Kirk, Starnard, Fries, Bates, Beyer, Schueler, Cox, Bender and McKenzie.

Score:

Lions..... 0 1 0 0 0 1 3-5
Scrubs..... 1 1 0 0 0 3 0-6
Batteries: Lions—Connelly and W. Frawley; Scrubs—Kirk and Ashman.

POSTMASTERS LOSE IN KIMBERLY LOOP

The Postmaster crew scored one more run than their opponent in the first frame and the score was fairly even at the end of the second in which the Rounders got eight runs, but the winners settled down and allowed the Mailmen only one run in the remaining five frames while they piled up seventeen, including nine in the fifth frame which decided the tilt. WALKS OFF WITH CHANGE HE GOT ON FORGED CHECK

Stranger Orders Load of Wood from Marston Bros. and Pays With Worthless
Check

Some smooth stranger is jangling about $13 in his pocket at the expense of Marston Bros., fuel and building material dealers who hold a check for $27 that is worthless. The swindle was perpetrated Thursday.

A man about 35 years old drove up to the Marston office in an automobile and ordered a load of wood from one of the owners. He gave a number on E North-st and presented the check in payment. The bill was about $14 so he received $13 in change. The check was drawn on the First National bank and had the signature of Robert Schultz local contractor, affixed. It was made payable to Raymond J. Johnson. The man ordered the check in the presence of those in the office and made the entire transaction appear as if sincere.

When the truck driver reached the supposed address on E. North-st with the load of wood he was unable to locate the number or any family by the name of Johnson. The forgery then was discovered and the police notified. Description furnished the police is of a man 35 to 35 years of age, 5 feet 8 or 9 inches tall, 185 pounds in weight, hatless and wearing a sport shirt with short sleeves. He had a somewhat sunken forehead.

COLD KILLS OFF 28 PHEASANTS

Fish and Game Association
Has 40 Birds Left to Form
Nucleus in County

Heavy rains and unfavorable weather following the hatching of pheasant eggs set by the Outagamie co. Fish and Game Protective association caused the death of 28 chicks out of the 68 hatched, leaving 40 vigorous birds with which to start propagation in this county. Nine of the birds are of the Mongolian variety while the rest are ringnecks.

When Eau Claire co. sportsmen first began hatching pheasant eggs, only 6 per cent of the eggs hatched and only 33 per cent of the birds. While the record here is much a better showing was Sportsmen fostering the and are satisfied, however, for the 49 chicks as a good hen pheasant lays from 40 to 6 in a season, and if the birds are hand are brought through the summer and succeeding winter, it is expected that an open season may be declared in a few years.

The association plans to secure a number of grown birds next spring to augment those hatched this year. This plan has met with considerable success in other counties, and while the grown birds are more expensive than the eggs the ultimate results are much better. Twelve mallard eggs also were set at the time the pheasant eggs were given to farmers of the county, and 4 out of the five ducks hatched are living.

ENGINEERS START SURVEY OF SEWERS

W. G. Kitchener and E. H. Thwaite of Madison, engineers who have been engaged by the city to make a survey of the sewers here, started their project Friday morning. The survey was determined upon by the city council several months ago in order to bring the sewage system up to the requirements of the Wisconsin sanitary laws. It is the preliminary to work which will end contamination of the Fox river, the spring back-water and the present confusion of the system. It is said that there are at least 12 individual sewer systems in the city now, most of them unconnected with any other. The work of making the survey will require about a year, according to present estimates.
